

Engaging Community at Fort Worth ISD High School Go Centers

Education. Go Get It.

www.collegefortexans.com

Encouraging high school completion and college readiness

This project works to build community awareness and engagement around the high school graduation and college-readiness crisis. Community leaders will be equipped with information on various programs, including re-designed high schools, that they can subsequently deliver to other individuals and groups, thus leveraging the human resources in the community.

Sixteen lunch-time meetings in the Fort Worth ISD high school Go Centers are planned before December 2008, with a goal of engaging more than 250 influential individuals representing parents, P-16 educators, students, the faith community, business, and social service groups.

The project anticipates engaging those participants of the fall 2006 United Way of Tarrant County community awareness program that included the Fort Worth Chamber, the Fort Worth Hispanic Chamber, the Fort Worth Metropolitan Black Chamber, United Way of Tarrant County and its youth-serving affiliates, the Women's Policy Forum, Tarrant Area Community of Churches, and the Fort Worth League of Neighborhoods.

Each attendee of the Go Centers meetings will be asked to either:

1. have a one-on-one discussion with a middle school-age youth to explore the opportunities available to them in high school and post-secondary educational options, or
2. make a brief presentation at a civic, business, or faith-based group in which they are involved.

Your participation will encourage high school completion and college readiness for our students. You can help make a difference today.

Please join this important community initiative.
